

Who We Are

iHub Consulting is an initiative of the iHub, Nairobi's premier Innovation Hub for the technology community and an open space for technologists, investors and tech companies in Kenya. Founded in March 2010, iHub has since grown into a community of 10,000 members with more than 45 startups emerging from the space. iHub is a community which seeks to bring technology over the barrier to bridge gaps in society. Other initiatives of iHub are:

1. iHub Research - gathering and disseminating knowledge for the technology community
2. iHub UX Lab - user experience testing and training
3. iHub Cluster - high performance computing and training

iHub Consulting, established in mid 2012, pools the best technology professionals in the space to form fully-skilled teams to help enterprises develop relevant technology strategies and systems.

What We Do

We provide services in a broad range of technology areas, enabled by the diversity of members of the iHub community, meeting the needs of organizations in the region and globally:

- Enterprise System Development
- Talent Recruitment and Development
- Advisory in Technology Strategy
- Web and Mobile Applications Development
- Project Management and Quality Assurance

Our Process

Our process is user-centered. We begin by understanding the organization's needs and then put together the best suited team from our pool to ensure success of the project. The entire process is user-driven, where constant feedback from the client is incorporated to develop robust solutions that meet the environmental and business context.

Team Selection and Review

We select the best team for each project from our pool. Our consultants are selected through a rigorous vetting process based on track record, skills, attitude and peer review. During each project, teams undergo a client review and an internal peer review which ensures that they are always growing and delivering quality.

Organizations we have worked with

Nation Media Group, Google, BBC Media Action, World Wildlife Fund
